Activity Sheet

History Detective

Historians spend their time investigating events, much like detectives or journalists. They work to build evidence to support their views on the events they study. As you move through the museum, find evidence of and explain the following:

Conflict between groups

Conflict within a group

Cooperation between groups

Cause and effect (something happens and impacts something else)

Context (something else going on explains why something else happened the way it did)

Change over time

Advocacy (publicly defending or supporting an idea or group)

Problem-solving

Technological innovation

Economic development

Environmental challenge

Artistic Expression
